THE ITALIAN QUALITY

EDILVERTOVA has been operating in the real estate development sector since 1968. A passion passed on from father to son, the results of which are visible through the quality of all our construction works. Our professional attitude and reliability that has remained consistent and constant over time for customers and suppliers alike, full compliance to fair competition principles towards competitors, the employment of qualified personnel and the

Our operative and administrative headquarters are located in BERGAMO, a northern Italian town in the vicinity of the Milan-Orio airport facilities, whilst our construction sites are spread over various municipalities in the North of Italy and beyond. EDILVERTOVA ensures effective, 360° hands-on intervention throughout each one of the real estate development processes and is thus capable of providing clients with total service performance: from the project planning and design phases right down to turnkey building projects.

impementation of the most innovative materials have enabled us to stay ahead and to expand over the years, in terms of both turnover and skilled labour resources.

We are distinctively specialised in the development of new residential buildings such as single-family mansions and villas, two-family homes, multi-family residential units as well as medium-sized residential blocks and apartment buildings. At Edilvertova we are furthermore highly experienced in home renovation and property refurbishment works, historic building restoration as well as partial or total revamping works.

A portion of our turnover is also constituted by commercial and industrial construction projects.

For over a decade now we have specialised in supporting other general contractors and real-estate agencies, in our capacity as subcontractors of structural steelwork and masonry work under our “skilled labour and equipment” provision formula.

QUALITY, THE ITALIAN WAY.

Giuseppe Rinaldi has chosen to give his real estate development company a specific Italian trend, both in as far as his management policies and the skilled, locally selected workforce is concerned.

On-site operations entail hard work, requiring a mix of strength, dedication, concentration and prowess. To top it all, there is always that something extra: the pleasure of achieving beauty.

The capacity of acknowledging this as a fact, and the will to go all the way for it.

A skill that comes naturally here, given by the wealth of works of art, ancient historical villages and humanistic landscaping. Which is why EDILVERTOVA has no qualms in championing quality instead of quantity as an end unto itself. The love for perfection is therefore imperative to everyone involved, from the workforce employees to the technicians and managers.
